

SUMMER SNOW

THE TIME WALKER'S JOURNAL : BOOK 1

by Will Hogarth

WILL HOGARTH was born in 1966, and lives in the Northeast of England, in what was the heart of mining country but which is now more of a countrified commuter belt. Will is passionate about books: both reading and writing along with having a love of the great outdoors and endurance sports. His favourite authors are: Derek Landy, Agatha Christie, Lee Child and Robert Jordan. A voracious reader, Will has an eclectic taste in literature. When it comes to writing, Will describes himself as "A dyslexic writer, trying to prove the world wrong."

Synopsis

What if the past wasn't set in stone? What if there were those that could walk the pathways between times?

Summer Snow: The Debut Novel By Will Hogarth

For Steve Thyme life wasn't fair. He was clumsy, a geek and a loner. Little did he know that things were going to take a turn for the worst.

Steve was about to become the latest in a long line of Time-Walkers and become embroiled in a savage case of murder and betrayal. While he is dealing with Vikings, Witches and Assassins, Steve will need to get to the bottom of the murder - Quickly. Or he will risk being the next victim to the killer's blade - over a thousand years before he was even born.

FOR SOME, HISTORY DOESN'T ALWAYS STAY IN THEIR PAST.
